BY CALVIN ROBINSON

Greeting, on a chilly week in late May. Sweaters by day and a blanket at night. Turned the heat off one day and promptly ootched a mild cold. I take my garden work in half-hour hitches. On a clear day I can discourage over 400 morning glories in half an hour, with a garden hoe, and have time left over to see if anything I planted has come up. Good news. I purchased a dozen tomato plants from a local market and at latest count a dozen were living. If they keep that up, will have to see about staking 'em. If'n I had to, some of the radishes are large enough to harvest.

Appomattox Is A Growing Town, and Martha Street the same. New housing construction in progress. Our street is two blocks long, and this new housing is on East Martha.

Joe Ferrell was telling me about his successful use of liquid fertilizer. Have never tried it, but often use a special fertilizer can of a product called Rapidgro, which seems to work. Shame on me, but when all else fails to discourage honeysuckle from taking over, I pour gasoline on it, being careful not to have my steadily-puffed pipe going at the time. One of the top challenges to keep your premises looking okay is to have neighbors who take great pride in their property. I dasn't be the loner to hold down the appearance of my part of town! Heavens to Betsy, I had awareness of an odor from the back porch and traced it to some onions I had purchased and forgotten to plant. So I chucked 'em out and they were too soft to plant. But I planted them anyway, and so help me every one of them are up and thriving. Ain't Nature wunnerful. Oh yes, that reminds me to thank Mrs. Clara Mitchell for loaning me a book about Lawrence Welk's band, since Welk made the words, wunnerful, wunnerful famous. His new book is: Ah One, Ah Two!

From a splendid magazine published by my church denomination, I found statistics on church membership in the US. After a slight decline, it is now on the increase, with over sixty-five per cent of our population having church affiliation. But that is not enough and our generation should re-examine its commitments. And I checked the church affiliation of the many Presidential candidates, although I do not favor mixing religion and politics. Heard of one church where the preacher prayed so long that some of those who bowed their heads, went to sleep and didn't raise them when he said. Amen.

About five tons of pork will be prepared for the second annual pork festival June 2 at Emporia, Va. - - I have not smoked a cigarette for fifteen years but they must be making'em better than they used to, for years ago you could tell a cigarette smoker by the orange-yellow stain on the fingers holding them between puffs . did you see the bumper sticker which said "Bumper stickers are hard to get off" . .

My friend Stuart Farrar, of Pamplin, often phones me about some question of history and I find that he is a keen and dedicated student of history and I feel safe in confirming what his studies have revealed. Example. Who built The McLean House? Wilmer McLean did not. Call Mr. Farrar for the answer! . . congratulations to the ACHS girls softball team and their coach. Appomattox gals have winning ways! . . . first two magnolia blooms I have are at the very top of the tree, which is just as well for they do not last if cut and brought indoors. Ah yes, space runneth out, so thanks for reading, and seeya next week.
